

March 24, 2007

Hello Shepherd,

I guess you must have realized that the email that I had sent was not completed because there was no closure. I had sent you the incomplete one in error. I have deleted the part that was sent, so here is the rest.

I am trying to communicate my desires, as well as my despair so that you can know and understand me better. I have really tried to listen and hear your point of view. Now I am trying in the least threatening way to give you mine. I have tried to reach out and talk to you gently with my words, my eyes, and my emotions but each time you get upset which makes it impossible to do so. I realize that you are a human being so I do not demand perfection from you until I am perfect myself.

If I had known about your two wives in Nigeria, I would have not been involved with you so my heart would have protected me from you. Now I have feelings for you, which I will have to try to fight and forget about.

As for Miss M, you have never denied having an intimate relationship with her; you only get very angry whenever her name is mentioned in a negative way. You call me names, turn your back towards me, and in another case you were ready to walk out.

You have never done anything nice for me or show any sign of real love. For example on my birthday, you could not even take the time to buy me a birthday card or even spend any time with me. You came as usual between the hours of 1: A.M. on Monday and leave between the hours of 6: A.M. and 7: A.M. I had asked you twice last year to find some time so we can talk. You never did or even responded to me. At the time when I was so busy downstairs, you dropped Abraham off in the morning. In addition, advise him that I should bring him home. After returning from the States, I became very ill. You called a few times, however you never once asked if there was anything you could do for me or get me. Of all the selfish and inconsiderate ways you have treated me, this was the worst and the most hurtful one. (Surveys done have suggested that you can always tell how your partner feels about you by the way he or she treats you in time of sickness, Your attitude towards how I was feeling the Sunday when I was upset because I was not sure of what was happening to me. Paulette asked you to come downstairs and explain it to me because I was crying. You refuse to do so, that shows how much you really care and feel about me. Especially I am sure that the only reason why you did not was that Miss M. was down there. You flirt around with MISS M. in front of me, not caring about my feelings at all, showing a total lack of respect for me. You acknowledge the fact that you will sleep with others because they are women. Moreover, sex is no big deal, so I need to accept it. It is a very big deal for me it is a personal thing between a man and a woman; it is one way of showing your love for each other. Therefore, that means that whomever you are sleeping at the time that is where your heart is. I need a man whose heart will be with me at all times and not another woman regardless of who they are. Oh, let us not forget Christmas, no time for a card. Only time to come and give me the bad news before I left for the States, with no remorse at all. I was in a state of shock by the news for three days after. Another thing that bothers me also is the fact that you have no respect at all for me. You are so bold of your life style and always trying to put me down for mine. You cannot be committed or faithful to me, so I cannot grow to love you, as I would want to. I cannot go with the flow as you would like me to and deliberately ignore holiness.

As much as I care for you very deeply, something that I did not want to happen or intended to happen. I cannot love you or want to be with you based on all of the above. You are never there for me and will never be able to be there for me, based on all your other women involvement and commitments. You can never give me all your love and I will not settle for anything less. Loving and being loved is the most beautiful and precious thing between a man and a woman. I am sorry that you have never experienced that kind of love, so you would not understand. In addition, because of that you can never understand me. No woman will ever truly love you, when they are aware of the fact that there are others. They will be with you because of their circumstances, or because in North America and the Caribbean, as they say a half of a man is better than nothing at all, not in love because they truly love you. The BIBLE says take unto yourself a wife and the two shall become one, not the three four and five. I am determined to maintain my character knowing it will not always be easy.

The most important thing to me now is a good intimate relationship with a special person and serving GOD, these are my priority. I feel that it is very crucial that you take the things that I say to you in prayer, then sit very quietly for a while and think of your habits, relationships, and priorities what or who is more important to you then choose that person. As long as you are happy, I will be happy for you and hold no grudge or bitterness towards you. I will never disrespect you behind your back, in public or slander your name

At first when you claimed that, you wanted to be with me. I had a very hard time dealing with it because I was still in love with my husband and wanted him back, our different life style, the different style of worshipping, walking bare feet, wearing of the garment, the spiritually, etc, etc, I prayed about all of these things and it had started to become a little easier. However once I got to know you better it was a different thing, your character, selfishness, attitude, private life and lack of affection. (I am sorry to say that is only in bed that you have shown a little affection).

(You cannot start a fire in another's heart until it is burning in your own heart. I am sorry Shepherd I do not mean to offend you, but it is better to hear the hard truth, than a soft lie.

All work and no play will take the joy of love and life away. How can you build a meaningful relationship with me when your body soul and spirit are not functioning at their best because of so many women on your mind? How can you have time for me with all your responsibilities and love relationship with them. When will you get time to nurture our relationship? In sickness and in health.

Words of though in closing.

It is not what we have but what we use, nor what we see but whom we choose. To change can be a wonderful prospect, though often it is met with resistance, the transformation begins with us and it will take lot of persistence. The garden of each of our hearts needs constant weeding and care. While the past remains a part of our lives, it does not have to determine our future. May God control you in the inside that you will be genuine on the outside? Please remember this. (Love suffers long and is kind, does not parade itself and is not puffed up). Therefore, when I explain and share my feelings with you, if you love me as you say you do, you would not be so puffed up.

Solomon had many wives but in the end, it was his downfall. I do wish you joy and happen in what so ever you do. The Bible said it is not good for man to be alone.

Until someone else comes into my life, my heart will be joining to yours, but not forever because I am not capable of loving more that one person at a time.

This is the last letter of this kind that I will ever write to you again because I have now said it all. I have poured out my soul and shared the things that were troubling me with you. You can do whatever you choose to do with it.

If I have offend you in anyway for pouring my heart out, I am sorry that was surly not my intention.

Good luck in your entire endeavor.

Marg.